Through the Generosity of

Nestlé Nutrition Institute

Via The Nutritional Sciences, Education & Research Fund (NSERF),

Nutrition: The International Journal of Applied and Basic Nutritional Sciences

Announces

The 16th John M. Kinney Nestlé Nutrition Awards

The Award for Pediatric Nutrition
This award includes a Nestlé-sponsored $6000 cash prize and will be presented to the most outstanding ORIGINAL work directly relevant to the field of pediatric nutrition

The Award for General Nutrition
This award includes a Nestlé-sponsored $6000 cash prize and will be presented to the most outstanding ORIGINAL work directly relevant to the field of general nutrition

The Award for Nutrition and Metabolism
This award includes a Nestlé-sponsored $6000 cash prize and will be presented to the most outstanding ORIGINAL work directly relevant to the field of nutrition and metabolism.

Each of these three awards is given to the authors whose work has been submitted and accepted for publication in Nutrition: The International Journal of Applied and Basic Nutritional Sciences. In each case the work may be either from the clinic or the laboratory and involve humans or experimental animals. Selection will be done by three respective international judging committees, composed of a panel of experts in general nutrition, in pediatric nutrition, and in nutrition and metabolism.